

CALIFORNIA K9

I hope our website conveys the warmth, love, safety, and attention to detail that I want to surround a new family and owners with when they go through our entire process of selecting and training the right dog for you. My goal was to communicate our philosophy and why I started this business. Even with our company's name, my desire was to reimagine the personal protection dog. I believe people buy from people they trust and respect especially when making life altering decisions. I have done my best at starting to bring you this message and look forward to building our site with any information and details we might have omitted as well as new content. I am one email, text, or phone call away from personally answering any questions you may have so please do not hesitate to reach out. Now, more than ever in our changing world, the desire and need for more security can be enhanced with these magnificent, highly trained family protection dogs.

Our efforts to differentiate from others within the field is with our training program. I went to great lengths to detail out our process on the website for you. My goal is to guide you through every step of the way to make sure you are comfortable and confident about the entire process. Transparency is absolute. Matching and placing sound, socialized, functional obedience and protection dogs seamlessly into the right home, in public, around children, guests and pets is our #1 commitment to our clients.

Today, more than ever, potential dog owners are bombarded with so much information on protection companies web sites discussing sport titles, pedigrees, celebrity clients; all with the goal to attract and appeal to potential clients. We try to keep it simple and focused on one thing and one thing only, finding and training the right dog for you! We are not a Jack of all Trades and a Master of None. We pride ourselves on our rigorous selection and placement of security and companion dogs into your family unit as our comprehensive modern dog training. At the end of the day, when your dog arrives at your home that is the only thing that will matter. The rest are distractions from what is profoundly important. What matters most is the caliber of our dogs, and our training. Who you purchase your dog from is extremely important. Long-term reliability when it comes to client care and support is another especially important factor. You are investing a significant amount of money, time, and trust in our company. We stand behind your dog purchase, and their training.

It is unfortunate but our industry is full of many 'fly by night' dog breeders, trainers and scammers peddling unhealthy and unstable family protection dogs. We want to be here for you and pride ourselves in honesty and integrity which hopefully results in you referring us to another member of your community. That is our ultimate desire.

We look forward to working with you and bringing you joy and security with your new dog!

Warm regards,

Claudia Howard
